Sandra Alonso is a bilingual (English/Spanish) Certified Public Accountant (CPA) and Audit Manager with EY, one of the world's leading professional services firms. She earned her Bachelor of Business Administration in Accounting from Texas State University-San Marcos (Go Bobcats!) and later completed her Master's degree in Accounting from Texas A&M University-Corpus Christi.

Sandra's professional journey began at Circuit of The Americas in Austin, where she started as an Operations Administrative Assistant Intern before transitioning into the Accounting department as an Accounts Payable Specialist. While working and completing her degrees, she discovered her passion for public accounting and joined CohnReznick LLP, where she worked in Government Grant Compliance Advisory before moving into Audit. In 2021, she joined EY LLP, where she continues to grow her career while helping clients navigate complex accounting and business challenges.

Sandra's connection to Welcome Table began during her time at St. James Episcopal Church, where she served as an Office Assistant and had the opportunity to support and interact with both the Neighbor 2 Neighbor program and Freedom Schools. Those experiences showed her the profound impact that community organizations can make through service and compassion. Inspired by Welcome Table's mission and the difference it makes in the lives of others, Sandra joined the board to help further that impact and contribute to the organization's future success.

To Sandra, community means showing up for one another and recognizing that even small acts of service can create meaningful, lasting change. She believes some of the most powerful work happens when people come together with a shared commitment to helping others.

In her free time, Sandra enjoys spending time with her family, hiking, bike riding, exploring new restaurants, cooking, and baking. She and her family recently moved to Buda and enjoy discovering new places and activities in the area whenever their schedules allow. Sandra lives in Buda with her husband, their two-year-old son, and their dog, Drake. When asked about her favorite thing about Austin, Sandra points to its unique combination of outdoor beauty, culture, and community. Her favorite Austin destination is Lady Bird Lake, which she feels perfectly captures the spirit and energy of the city.
